A Message From Janice Lane Schroeder, CEO of Children & Families of Iowa

This is truly the year and season to show kindness to those we meet and be thankful, even for the little things. We often fail to remember the positive experiences that have occurred over the year, but it is important to take a minute to acknowledge these events and be grateful.

As an organization with a rich history of providing services to families and children here in the Des Moines community and throughout the State of Iowa, we are very grateful for the support of our board members, community partners and generous donors that help us fulfill our mission to restore hope, build futures, and change lives.

We are grateful for the willingness of staff to go above and beyond on a daily basis to connect, advocate and support those in need. We can not do this work alone nor in isolation, it takes a strong community like ours to make a difference. So, as we prepare for the new year, I embrace the spirit of hope and the promise to keep moving forward.

In Gratitude,

Janice Lane Schroeder
CEO, Children & Families of Iowa
